1. Twenty-seven single-engine ground attack aircraft and three biplanes were stationed at Schoenwalde (N 53/2 66) airfield. The ground attack planes were used from 3 to 6 p.m. for formation flights of squadron strength. The biplanes circled the field from 9 to 10:30 p.m. *

* Comment. This information indicates that the field is still occupied by a ground attack regiment. The two other ground attack regiments of this division were previously stationed in Doeberitz. According to a report by a reliable source, still unconfirmed, one of these regiments has been transferred to Staaken, possibly for training at division level. The distribution of the two regiments at two different fields makes a quick take-off possible. Flying in large formations has been observed at both fields. In addition to the ground attack regiment, Pe-2s and Tu-2s, probably assigned to a reconnaissance unit, are also stationed at Schoenwalde field. They were probably in the hangars during the period of observation.
